

Frittenden Historical Society

Tor from Frittenden Historical Society came in to talk to Wells and Shakespeare classes. She told us about some of the people from Frittenden and what happened to them during WW1. We were really interested in two brothers, Charley and Edward Homewood. We also found out about different jobs that people did during WW1 apart from being a soldier.

After that, we went for a walk to St Mary's Church and we found the grave of Charley Homewood. Inside the church is a list of all of those who died from Frittenden during WW1.
